CHRISTMAS trees are ripening very fast.

The news from Pittsburg, and this warm rainy weather, are really discouraging to the coal dealers.

A TELEGRAM was received Tuesday, from Chicago, announcing the marriage in that city, of Miss Ida Lamphrey to Mr. Wilson Richeson.

A. H. CALVERT, of Lewisburg, Ky., shipped on Tuesday evening to the east, over the Chesapeake and Ohio railroad, five car loads of cattle.

A LETTER passed through the postoffice Tuesday, addressed as follows: Charles Rothin, Geemanie Doun, Mayse County, Ky. It was sent to Germantown.

THE Gilmore property on Forrest avenue in the Fifth Ward was sold this week for $2,214, by Master Commissioner, G. S. Wall. W. S. Frank was the purchaser.

THE stone culvert on the Flemingsburg turnpike near the Hord farm has been replaced by a handsome and substantial bridge. The work was finished on Tuesday.

THE steamer Morning Mail took on Tuesday to Cincinnati from this place the following: 250 hogs, 230 sheep, one carload of cattle and a large lot of miscellaneous freight.

THE farm below Maysville, once owned by Capt. Cooper was sold last Saturday the 9th inst., by Deputy Sheriff Dan Perrine. Mr. Theodore Hudnut, of Terre Haute, was the purchaser.

A SEVEN feet rise is anticipated at Pittsburg, in which event light tows of coal will leave. The Kanawha is rising, with six feet of water, and considerable Kanawha coal is coming.

THE towboat Condor passed down last Tuesday evening, leaving one barge of Pomeroy coal for Mr. Wm. Wormald. Mr. Wormald will receive two additional barges of coal to-day.

A HANDSOME inlaid chess table, the work of Wm. Hancock, of East Maysville, is on exhibition in one of George Cox & Sons windows. It will be raffled at $1 a chance. The work on it is very fine.

A MUSKRAT very nearly succeeded in sinking the wharfloat at Cincinnati last Saturday night. When discovered, 18 inches of water had entered the hull through a hole the little animal had gnawed in the bottom.

H. B. PORTER, JR., better known as "Little Ed.," and George Glover, had their examining trial Tuesday on a charge of robbery. From the evidence it appears that "Little Ed." "caught on" to a man from Cabin Creek the night before and relieved him of all his surplus cash. As soon as the little transaction was over, Glover who, it seems, was aware of what was taking place, tried to get Porter to divide the spoils but didn't succeed in the effort. His honor, Mayor January, held both of them over for their appearance at the circuit court in January, and fixed their bail bonds at $200 each.

Sales of Land.

The following changes in the ownership of land have been recorded at the office of the Clerk of the County Court, since our last report:

G. W. Tudor to Amanda B. Edgington, lot No. 24 in the plat of Woodville; consideration $110.

George W. Brown and wife to Sallie B. Kirk, 17 acres 2 roods and 19 poles in Mason county; consideration $600.

THE Lexington (Mo.) Intelligencer in announcing the death of Judge James B. Hord, at that place, on the 21st ult., says:

Judge Hord was born in Mason county, Ky., where he lived until 1848 or 1849, when he removed to this county, where he has resided ever since. Mrs. Mary Metcalf, wife of Hon. Jas. P. Metcalf, at one time secretary of state and now reporter of the Kentucky supreme court, is one of his sisters; his cousin, Hon. Oscar Hord, is the law partner of Ex-Senator Hendricks, of Indiana, and Hon. Lysander Hord, a prominent lawyer at Frankfort, Ky., is his brother. Judge Hord himself served in the Kentucky legislature in 1845-46. In this county he served the people with intelligence and fidelity as county judge, during the most difficult period of debt compromise, and had just been re-elected probate judge for a second time. He leaves a wife, one son and a number of daughters. In the death of Judge Hord, Lafayette county loses an honorable, faithful public servant. As a husband, father, citizen, he was a man among a thousand. True, strong, kind, gentle, forgiving, an honorable Christian gentleman. Without the least pretension he was one of nature's noblemen. Respected by every one he was beloved by all who knew him well, and his memory will live green in their hearts while they live. May the God who has called his servant to him temper the affliction to the widow and children, who are honored in the life of rectitude which is the best monument to the husband and father.

THE cold weather which has come us is generally hailed with satisfaction as being seasonable, and on the whole as pleasant. This is all very well for the young and middle-aged; but a word of warning to persons advanced in years may not be out of place. They should be exceedingly careful in regard to exposure to the cold. A little lingering at an open door or window, or even in a cold room, without sufficient extra clothing, will often bring about serious results from which a younger person would be free. Glance at the obituary notices in the newspapers during a sudden cold and note the ages of those whose death are there recorded. Little more is needed to show the wisdom of the caution suggested.

How Protection Protects.

The Muhlenburg Echo has the following: "Protects, does it? The census of 1880 shows that the manufacturing establishments of this country realized a net profit of thirty-seven per cent. on all the capital invested, while the wages of the workmen average only about a dollar a day."

PERSONALS.

Points About People Here and Elsewhere.

Col. Richard Dawson has returned from Missouri.

Mr. Thomas White, of Levana, Ohio, is in the city to-day.

THE case of George Means, charged with shooting and wounding S. B. Oldham, on the Flemingsburg turnpike, last Friday night, came up in the Mayor's court on Tuesday, and was dismissed for want of jurisdiction, the offense alleged having been committed outside of the city limits.

MURPHYSVILLE.

Hog killing is about over.

The recent hop was a great success and everybody went away much pleased.

Some of our town folks report a man coming here a few days ago to cut up some hogs who enough tools with him to build a house. He proposed to do it scientifically.

The new turnpike from this place to the Sardis pike is progressing nicely.

GERMANTOWN.

Our town trustees have passed a law prohibiting the use of fire works here during the holidays. The merchants are not allowed to sell them nor the stages to bring them here. It is predicted, however, that there will be some person shot in the neck with crooked Shamrock, nevertheless, and wheelbarrows for carrying the slain and wounded will be more in demand than they were a year ago.

NEWS BREVITIES.
